

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON THE HISTORY OF THE MIDDLE EAST

CONFERENCE PROGRAMME: The conference will be held in Jerusalem, Israel, from 15-19 September 1998. The theme of the conference is 'The Middle East in the Twentieth Century: A History of Conflict and Change'. The conference will be held in the Sheraton Hotel, Jerusalem. The conference is organized by the Middle East Studies Association (MESA) and the American Studies Association (ASA).

The conference will feature a series of plenary sessions, keynote addresses, and panel discussions. The keynote addresses will be given by Professor Avi Shlaim, Professor Bernard Lewis, and Professor Ilan Pappé. The panel discussions will cover a wide range of topics, including the Arab-Israeli conflict, the role of the United States, and the impact of globalization on the Middle East.

The conference will also include a series of workshops and roundtable discussions. The workshops will be held in the evenings and will focus on specific aspects of the conference theme. The roundtable discussions will be held during the day and will provide an opportunity for participants to discuss their research and to share their views on the conference topics.

The conference is a unique opportunity for scholars and students alike to engage in a critical and thoughtful discussion of the history of the Middle East in the twentieth century. We hope that you will find the conference a most rewarding experience.

For more information, please contact the conference organizers at the Middle East Studies Association, 100 University Avenue, Room 100, New York, NY 10003. The conference is open to all who are interested in the history of the Middle East. There is no charge for registration. The conference is a joint venture of the Middle East Studies Association and the American Studies Association. The conference is a unique opportunity for scholars and students alike to engage in a critical and thoughtful discussion of the history of the Middle East in the twentieth century. We hope that you will find the conference a most rewarding experience.