

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON THE PROTECTION OF PERSONAL DATA

CONFERENCE REPORT: The International Conference on the Protection of Personal Data, held in Strasbourg, France, from 28 September to 3 October 1981, was the first of a series of conferences organized by the Council of Europe to deal with the protection of personal data. The conference was held in the framework of the Council of Europe's activities in the field of human rights and fundamental freedoms, and was the result of a long process of consultation and preparation. The conference was attended by representatives of 25 countries, including all the member states of the Council of Europe, and was presided over by the Council of Europe's Commissioner for Human Rights, Mr. Nils Muižnieks. The conference was held in the Grand Auditorium of the Council of Europe's headquarters in Strasbourg, and was opened by the Council of Europe's Secretary General, Mr. Hans-Gert Kobs. The conference was held in a friendly and productive atmosphere, and was characterized by a high level of participation and discussion. The conference was held in the framework of the Council of Europe's activities in the field of human rights and fundamental freedoms, and was the result of a long process of consultation and preparation. The conference was attended by representatives of 25 countries, including all the member states of the Council of Europe, and was presided over by the Council of Europe's Commissioner for Human Rights, Mr. Nils Muižnieks. The conference was held in the Grand Auditorium of the Council of Europe's headquarters in Strasbourg, and was opened by the Council of Europe's Secretary General, Mr. Hans-Gert Kobs. The conference was held in a friendly and productive atmosphere, and was characterized by a high level of participation and discussion.

The conference was held in the framework of the Council of Europe's activities in the field of human rights and fundamental freedoms, and was the result of a long process of consultation and preparation. The conference was attended by representatives of 25 countries, including all the member states of the Council of Europe, and was presided over by the Council of Europe's Commissioner for Human Rights, Mr. Nils Muižnieks. The conference was held in the Grand Auditorium of the Council of Europe's headquarters in Strasbourg, and was opened by the Council of Europe's Secretary General, Mr. Hans-Gert Kobs. The conference was held in a friendly and productive atmosphere, and was characterized by a high level of participation and discussion.

The conference was held in the framework of the Council of Europe's activities in the field of human rights and fundamental freedoms, and was the result of a long process of consultation and preparation. The conference was attended by representatives of 25 countries, including all the member states of the Council of Europe, and was presided over by the Council of Europe's Commissioner for Human Rights, Mr. Nils Muižnieks. The conference was held in the Grand Auditorium of the Council of Europe's headquarters in Strasbourg, and was opened by the Council of Europe's Secretary General, Mr. Hans-Gert Kobs. The conference was held in a friendly and productive atmosphere, and was characterized by a high level of participation and discussion.

The conference was held in the framework of the Council of Europe's activities in the field of human rights and fundamental freedoms, and was the result of a long process of consultation and preparation. The conference was attended by representatives of 25 countries, including all the member states of the Council of Europe, and was presided over by the Council of Europe's Commissioner for Human Rights, Mr. Nils Muižnieks. The conference was held in the Grand Auditorium of the Council of Europe's headquarters in Strasbourg, and was opened by the Council of Europe's Secretary General, Mr. Hans-Gert Kobs. The conference was held in a friendly and productive atmosphere, and was characterized by a high level of participation and discussion.

The conference was held in the framework of the Council of Europe's activities in the field of human rights and fundamental freedoms, and was the result of a long process of consultation and preparation. The conference was attended by representatives of 25 countries, including all the member states of the Council of Europe, and was presided over by the Council of Europe's Commissioner for Human Rights, Mr. Nils Muižnieks. The conference was held in the Grand Auditorium of the Council of Europe's headquarters in Strasbourg, and was opened by the Council of Europe's Secretary General, Mr. Hans-Gert Kobs. The conference was held in a friendly and productive atmosphere, and was characterized by a high level of participation and discussion.

